Rev. John Rigo To Celebrate 25th Anniversary

On June 24, 1924, Rev. John Rigo was ordained to the Priesthood, and on Sunday, June 19, 1949 will celebrate his 25th Anniversary Mass at Our Lady of Loretto Church where he is assistant to Rev. Leo E. Ryan. The Mass will be held at 11:30 A. M. Over 200 former parishioners from New York City will attend.

Father Rigo received his elementary schooling at St. Mary Magdalene School and later on attended Cathedral High School. He graduated with honors and entered St. Joseph's Seminary, Dunwoodie, Yonkers, where he received the added honor of distinction of being named Deacon of his class. Among his classmates were Rt. Rev. Monsignor Middleton, and Rt. Rev. Monsignor Gaffney, Chancellor of the New York Diocese.

Upon his ordination, Father Rigo celebrated his first Mass at St. Mary Magdalene Church. His first parish assignment was at St. Boniface Church, 47th Street and Second Avenue, New York City, thence to Blauvelt, N. Y., and Monticello, N. Y. Later on he was assigned to Our Lady of Good Council Church at 90th Street and St. Stephen's Church, 28th Street, New York City.

His many friends in Philipstown wish Father Rigo many more years in his spiritual duties.

American Legion Display Novel Idea

Through the courtesy of Sam Sunday, the George A. Casey Post has a display, designed to attract the attention of the townspeople. It seems that Sam's window gets the most looked into. This has been arranged to better acquaint everyone with the work and scope of the local Post. We have nothing to sell, just goodwill and community co-operation. When we do ask the people of Philipstown for help in our work, this is where it goes, in these various items you see on display. No one connected with your local Post is paid for their services. The members get the satisfaction of a job well done. Look in the window and see for yourself.

GARRISON FIRE COMPANY BAZAAR

From Breakneck Mountain to Anthony's Nose, the Hudson Valley will rock with merriment this Friday and Saturday as the Garrison Volunteer Fire Department stages its annual Bazaar on Philipse Common in Garrison.

Always a gala event, the Bazaar takes on added significance this year in that proceeds will go toward building a new firehouse for the Garrison smoke eaters just off Route 9-D.

Chairman John E. Byrnes, in charge of the Bazaar, has announced that the festivities will carry on rain or shine. Should the heavens weep, visitors will be accommodated in a tremendous canvas tent contributed to the occasion by Auctioneer-Natator O. Rundle Gilbert.

All of the frolicsome features which have made the Bazaar so popular in the past will be back this weekend. Wheels will start spinning in the many booths at 7:00 P. M. on Friday and 8:00 P. M., on Saturday. Winners at the various games of skill and chance will be rewarded with pandas, dolls, household articles, wine and other colorful knickknacks. Beer, soft drinks, frankfurters and a plethora of energy-building foodstuffs will be dispensed at reasonable prices.

As usual, a highlight of the Bazaar on Saturday evening will be the annual parade of Fire Companies from Cold Spring, Nelsonville, Putnam Valley, Buchanan and Garrison. Starting from Depot Square at 7:30 P. M., the firemen will march to Four Corners and thence to the Common led by blaring bands and high stepping Drum Majorettes. Marshal of the parade will be Dr. E. Plowes Chorley, Founding President of the Garrison Volunteer Fire Department. Five prizes will be awarded to the best performers in the parade: one to the best-uniformed company; one to the best non-uniformed company; one to the company with the most men in line; one to the best musical unit; and one to the most popular Majorette. Last year the Buchanan Company took most of the honors.

For the opening play, Mr. Stewart has chosen "The Pursuit of Happiness," a costume play depicting the old New England custom of bundling. In the cast of this play will appear Darren McGaven, who

He was a well known singer, and his tenor voice was heard many times in fraternal functions, church activities and local shows. No minstrel show in town was complete unless Fred was one of the soloists.

He was devoted to his family. If he was engaged in work or devoting his time to some pleasurable event, he was always congenial and courteous. Wherever he was located his list of friends grew rapidly and never diminished. He will be greatly missed by all.

DON'T FORGET FATHER NEXT SUNDAY

Sunday, June 19, is Father's Day. It is a day upon which father should be well remembered by being presented with gifts that will be appreciated. It is one day when he should receive extra attention. To those who are fortunate to have Pop, Daddy or whatever he may be addressed, no effort should be spared in making him doubly happy. Don't lose sight of the fact that all during the year he has been responsible for your upkeep and welfare, and this responsibility has been his for many a year. At times the going may have been somewhat rough, but he put his shoulder to the wheel and made the grade.

At all times don't be disrespectful, and never refer to him as being the "old man" or the "old gent." Dad, pop or father is much better. There may be times when you think he should be censored for some minor offense, but before you start with the "balling out," hesitate and remember you have probably done the same thing and he passed it off in a kindly way, without hurting your feelings to any great extent. His kindly advice is usually of the "Golden Rule" type.

Next Sunday will be the day to make dad, pop or father very happy, so go to it—the sky is the limit.

One thing the world needs is an amplifier for the still, small voice.

The world may be your oyster, but you have to crack its shell to find the pearls in it.

There's no monkey business about a new hat. It either makes you look ten times better or a thousand times worse.

Some men do their best work today and forget about it; others promise to do their best work tomorrow and forget about it.

A new feature of the Bazaar this year is the publication of a souvenir program generously supported by the businessmen of Philipstown and surrounding areas. Copies of the program will be sold at the Bazaar on Friday and Saturday and holders of a lucky program will win door prizes each evening.

Chairman John E. Byrnes this week expressed his appreciation not only to the businessmen sponsoring the Bazaar program, but also to the Capucin Fathers who generously have sponsored one of the booths at the Bazaar.

My Garden

The flowers in my garden
I tend with patient care,
From the pansy to the hollyhock
There is color everywhere.
My joy is in my garden,
Experts I'll always heed
As to health and size of blossoms
From the budding to the seed.
But one thing in my garden
I know I'll never do,
I'll not tamper with God's colors—
I don't want my roses blue.

WITH THE LEGION*1949-1950*George Benziger

Saturday evening, June 18 at 7:30 the George A. Casey Post No. 275 will enter it's Firing Squad and Color Guard in their first competition at the County Convention at Carmel, N. Y. The Squad has been drilling weekly for this event and the support of the entire Post will be appreciated. We have added a new touch to the equipment in the form of white rifle slings with the Legion insignia on them. The outfit looks pretty snappy, one every member can be proud of. The usual business will be taken up at the convention. The election of the County

Commander and the selection of State delegates will be part of the important fare to come before the members. Refreshments of course and plenty of them. The Ladies Auxiliary will be represented as guests at the Convention. The Competition and the Parade following will be a colorful sight. The Cold Spring Drum and Bugle Corps, accompanying the George A. Casey Post will provide the added touch of good music. Here's hoping that we put on a good show. Anyone desiring transportation to Carmel, telephone J. V. Christian, C. S. 2172 and we will provide the necessary cars. Here's the chance for some of you "old-timers" in the Post to show the "new-timers" that you still have an interest.

PAST HISTORY OF PUTNAM COUNTY*BY WM. J. BLAKE, Esq.

Red Mills—A small village situated on the Muscote River, 8 miles southwest of Carmel. The mill and nearly all other buildings here are painted red; and this fact has given the name to the place. The first carding machine put up in this country permanently, was established here. It was brought to Peekskill by an Englishman named Ellinworth, about the year 1800. He put it up at Peekskill, where it remained about two years, and then removed it to this place, where it was looked upon with as much wonder and amazement, as the elephant, old Tip, was, when first exhibited in this country.

It was supposed that English Custom-house officers were bribed to let it pass. Ellinworth brought a man by the name of Hague, who had worked it in England, to superintend its operations in this country. Hague returned to England, but Ellinworth did not dare to. It was about half as large as those made at the present time; and the Yankees were not slow in their improvements upon it.

Major Roger Morris, who married Mary Philipse, had a log mansion here. It stood about 40 rods northeast of the Post Office. Mary, or "Madame Morris," as she was called by the tenants, was a remarkable woman, who possessed not only the esteem, but the love of the tenants of her estate. The "Long Lot," which Major Morris obtained with his wife, included the Red Mills. Major Morris and his lady lived a greater part of the year at New York and Harlem, and at a certain season would come up and spend some time at this place to receive rents and give directions to their tenants. The gentleness of manner and kindness of disposition manifested by Madame Morris, soon secured the affections of the tenants; and not as yet having a house, in the estimation of the tenants, sufficiently large for her reception while she stayed among them, they got together and erected a large log-house, put up with more nicety, and finished in a style more suited to a lady of her rank and standing. She had ever been the friend of the tenants, and this act, on their part, was a tribute of their esteem and admiration for her noble and generous conduct to them. Isaac Lounsberry's house now encloses the log-house of Madame Morris. Major Morris is supposed to have built the first store and grist mill at this place, but at what time, we are not informed. Between where the log-house of Madame Morris stood and the Post Office is now kept, the mother of William Hill, now living, then a widow, and familiarly called "Granny Hill," lived in a log-house. This old lady had secured the friendship of Madame Morris. Some years before the Revolution, a kind of anti-rent rebellion broke out among the tenantry of the Morris estate. We are not advised of the true issue between the landlord and tenants, but believe it was somewhat similar to the anti-rent trouble of the present time. An association paper was soon drawn up and circulated among the tenants, making common cause with one another in the matter. Granny Hill asked to see the paper, and being deceived and misled as to the objects its signers proposed to secure themselves, signed it.

The Major soon heard of it, and, calling on the old lady, required her to take her name off it. She, still believing the paper contemplated nothing but what had been represented to her, refused to do so, alleging, as the story goes, that she "could seal it with her blood." She was told that she must then go out of her house; and out she went. The matter soon reached the ears of Madame Morris, who was informed of the deception played off on her aged tenant. She asked the Major what he had been doing with Granny Hill? He replied that she had signed that paper, and had refused to take her name off; and that he had turned the old rebel out of doors. Madame Morris could not, for a moment, believe that the old woman would do anything wrong as her tenant, and somewhat resenting the hasty conduct of her husband, told him that "there was a 100 acres up the road with a log-house on it, and that Granny Hill should have a living on it for life," gently reminding him that all the land was hers in her own right, and cautioning him not to molest the

MEN TO GIVE*BARBECUE AUG. 13

Philip C. Pinkel, general chairman of arrangements for the annual Barbecue given by the men of St. Mary's Church in the Highlands, has announced the date of this year's barbecue as Saturday, August 13, rain or shine.

At the same time the rector of St. Mary's, the Rev. Frederick Q. Shafer announced the appointment of the following committee to serve with Mr. Pinkel: Solicitation and purchasing, Clarence K. Glass; Tickets, Floyd O'Brien and the men of the Trinity Club; Menu, Mr. Pinkel; Promotion and Publicity, J. M. Gilbert, Jr., and Duncan Campbell; Tables, Walter Patterson.

The annual barbecue, established in 1947, immediately achieved an enviable reputation for good food and as one of the leading events of the summer season. This year's proceeds will go toward the fuel bill for 1949-5.

old lady again. Granny Hill accordingly received a life interest in the 100 acres; and after the estate was confiscated, in consequence of Major Morris taking the British side of the question, under whose government he held a commission, an individual who had purchased it of the State, demanded an absolute and full title; but it was found that the old lady had an interest in the land that could not be terminated, without her consent, until her death. When Gen. Montcalm, the Commander of the French Army was shot in the battle on the Plains of Abraham, at Quebec, he was riding a large and beautiful white horse. The horse was captured by the British, and made a present to Major Roger Morris, for the gallantry he evinced in that battle, who brought him, after the war was finished, to the Red Mills. He was kept on the farm adjoining Nathaniel Crane's, Esq., by George Hughson, the ancestor of the Hughson family, in Dutchess County, at that time an agent of Major Morris. The stock of this horse was found here within the last fifty years.

Elects Officers

A special Service of Thanksgiving in observance of the 400th anniversary of the first English Prayer Book of 1549 was held in St. Mary's Church in the Highlands on Sunday, June 5, at 5:30 P. M. The service followed the order of Evening Prayer as found in the first Prayer Book. Prior to the Anniversary Address, which was delivered by the rector, Rev. Frederick Quentin Shafer, the churchwardens presented Mr. Shafer with the keys of the church, officially welcoming him as rector and pledging the cooperation and full support of the congregation. In his address, Dr. Shafer stressed the possible contributions of the Prayer Book to the future development of Christianity, stating that it points the way to a rediscovery of the Church as a living thing rather than a formal shell.

The Choir of St. Mary's Church sang Mozart's "Gloria in Excelsis" and the closing prayers were led by the Rev. Lockett Ford Ballard, rector of St. Philip's Church in the Highlands, Garrison, who gave the blessing. The service was also attended by the Rev. George A. Baird, pastor of the Cold Spring Methodist Church, Mr. George E. Morrison, minister of the Presbyterian Church, and the Rev. J. J. Allen, minister of the Baptist Church.

Salute To Cold Spring

On Tuesday morning, over Station WCBS, Jack Sterling in his "Top O' The Morning" program saluted Cold Spring. Space will not permit the publishing of the entire program, but a few briefs follow.

Cold Spring, New York . . . just across the Hudson River from West Point . . . grew up around the old West Point Foundry. Up until 1818, when this industry was established at Cold Spring, the town was hardly a town at all . . . just a collection of a few houses. After that, though, the community grew rapidly . . . until, by 1855, it had a population approximately the same as its population today. The Foundry made a variety of metal products, but it became most famous as a cannon factory during the Civil War. The celebrated Parrott Gun, invented by Captain Robert Parrott, played such an important part in the campaigns of the Northern Armies that President Abraham Lincoln visited the Foundry during the war to commend the workmen. The Foundry was finally abandoned in 1911, but Cold Spring still remembers it as the source of the town's greatest era of fame and prosperity.

But to illustrate that Cold Spring today is an alert, modern community . . . not given to resting on its history . . . its Mayor, William A. Dardess, Jr., requests that we play for him the very up-to-date ballad, "Adeorable."
